

Access to E-Resources and Databases Agreement Form

Ref No: ERE- -

This agreement form directs the use and refrain of information which are included in subscribed e-resources and databases available at the National Library. The e-resources and databases may change from time to time depending on subscription.

Users should refrain from doing the following:

1. Download or print complete journal issues or books (per journal issue or book, 15% limit).
2. Make a profit from the Publisher's Material.
3. Distribute documents obtained through databases to any individuals or organisations.
4. Upload/post the material to a publicly available website or elsewhere.
5. Modify, adapt transfer or create any derivative work from the publisher's material, software or hosting agent or tamper with the access software.
6. Accessing the databases while traveling outside the country.
7. Give the ID/password to other individuals or institutions (if others at your institution are interested, send them to the Library).

I have read and accept the terms and conditions of using library e-resources and databases.
